
Casa Erica Family Residency

Summer

Live in Italy, Together

Welcome to Casa Erica

Casa Erica sits in the small hilltop village of Lubriano, looking out over Civita di Bagnoregio. The house itself was once a Jesuit monastery, and over time it has quietly become a place where people come to slow down, gather, and spend real time together.

This residency is for families who want something more than a trip.
For a few weeks, you live here.
Not as visitors, but as part of the the village.

Your children spend their mornings immersed in language, food, and everyday life. You have time to work if you need to, or simply to think, rest, and move through your day differently.

Afternoons open up.
You find your rhythm.
The village starts to feel familiar.

It's not about doing more.
It's about being here, for a while.

The Experience

Life here has a natural rhythm to it.

In the mornings, the children are together in a small, thoughtful program built around curiosity and interaction with the place itself. Italian language comes through conversation, play, cooking, and time in the garden. Some mornings, they head out into nearby towns and landscapes.

While they're doing that, you have space. There's a quiet coworking area if you need it, but you're just as likely to take a walk, sit with a coffee, or let the day unfold a bit.

Afternoons are intentionally left open. Some days you might explore nearby hill towns or Etruscan sites. Other days you stay close - walk through the village, read in the garden, or do very little at all.

Weekends are your own.
Your onsite host will help with every aspect of planning and suggestions when you want them - wineries, day trips, simple outings - but nothing is scheduled unless you choose it. The idea is to make things easy, and to help you experience life in Italy.

Your Home at Casa Erica

Families stay in one of two private homes on the Casa Erica property, each with its own large garden and sweeping views of Civita di Bagnoregio.

Each home has three bedrooms and two bathrooms.
One of the homes looks across the valley onto Civita di Bagnoregio, the other onto gardens and across tile roofs.

The homes are simple, beautiful, and deeply rooted in their setting.
The view from every room is stunning, and quintessentially Italian.

A Gentle Daily Rhythm

Morning

Mornings are dedicated to the children's program.
Children spend this time together in a structured, supervised setting designed to gently introduce them to life in another culture. Our team uses language, food, and exploration of place and culture to create a truly fun and memorable experience. Because we are set in the countryside, activities will be largely outdoors.

Select mornings include visits to nearby towns for various experiences.

During these hours, parents are free to work, explore, or move through the day independently, with access to a quiet coworking space.

Afternoon

Afternoons are intentionally left unstructured.
Time opens up for family exploration, rest, or simply being in the village.
Some days may include a swim, a walk, or a spontaneous outing. Other days unfold more slowly.

Weekend

Weekends are your own.
We provide thoughtful planning and local recommendations, including wineries, nearby towns, and simple day trips. Everything is arranged to feel easy, while allowing you to experience Italy on your own terms.

A simple rhythm, designed to support both independence and ease.
