MEET

ADAM KASIX

Former Bed-Wetter. Combat Veteran. Black Sheep.

Adam brings an uncommon combination of professional experience and “profound authenticity” to the stage.

A former Level I trauma nurse, decorated combat veteran and multimillion-dollar sales producer, Adam understands what it takes to perform under pressure.

His journey through IV drug addiction and the loss and restoration of his family was profiled in a documentary.

He returned from combat in Afghanistan with Post-Traumatic Stress and now speaks about learning to thrive with it.

Adam draws from these experiences to help audiences understand why capable, driven people can still find themselves repeating unwanted patterns—and what they can do differently.

Adam has spoken to thousands and worked with hundreds of individuals across North America, Europe, Australia and the Caribbean.

His audiences include the U.S. Army, American Dream University, churches, educational institutions and organizations that understand strong cultures produce strong results.

He combines candid storytelling, humor and practical self-coaching frameworks to make complex concepts relatable and applicable to everyday life.

Adam is the creator of Beyond the Arena™, host of The Confront Your Beast Show and author of the upcoming memoir, Jesus, Drugs & The American Dream™. He's a two-time husband to his high school sweetheart and a proud 4X Dad.

Program Description

Revolutionary Freedom™

Relief · Clarity · Direction

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

You've spent years proving yourself. You're capable, experienced and accustomed to figuring things out. But lately, you've been wondering, What's next?

Meet Phil. After nearly a decade of selling concrete, he knew the business and knew sales. Yet when opportunities arose to step into a bigger role, he'd second-guess himself.

Through working with Adam, Phil began moving forward without needing to know how everything would turn out.

He landed a $10,000-a-month consulting engagement and, perhaps more importantly, gained the clarity to recognize that concrete consulting wasn't where he ultimately wanted to stay.

"I finally got my head above water this week ... Now let's look forward, right? Let's look. Let's start to dream."

That's revolutionary freedom. Not simply achieving more, but becoming freer to choose what comes next.

Name changed for privacy.

Tear It Off: Secrets of Deep Work (aka Finding Your True Self)

Question 1 What do you think is the biggest challenge facing professionals going through a season of wilderness today?

Question 2 How is your personal experience one that lends itself to the study of authenticity? IE. Why should people trust you with "being real"?

Question 3 You've described "Tear It Off" as a methodology that is also a great paradox. Can you explain that?

Question 4 According to your experience, what is the key to success?

Question 5 One of my favorite things in your upcoming book is the concept of sleep-walking, but not in the traditional sense.

a testimonial story

Adam is great at what he does because he truly cares about each & every person.

Jason

CEO, SDJ Enterprises

I have been an entrepreneur since I started my first business at the age of 15... over 30 years ago.

Adam has provided expert marketing ideas, strategies and consulting. He is warm, engaging and always going the extra mile. He simply knows how to produce.

Adam has assisted my General Managers, shift supervisors and other employees in the soft skills of conflict resolution, working with various personality styles (this piece alone makes his work phenomenal) and leadership principles.

Adam is great at what he does because he truly cares about each and every person he works with or "serves", as he calls it.

He truly is excellent... you will experience it firsthand when you get to have a conversation with him.

IN HIS WORDS:

If I could advise, don't miss having him.

BIGGEST STRUGGLE

Our industry traditionally sees a high turnover rate.

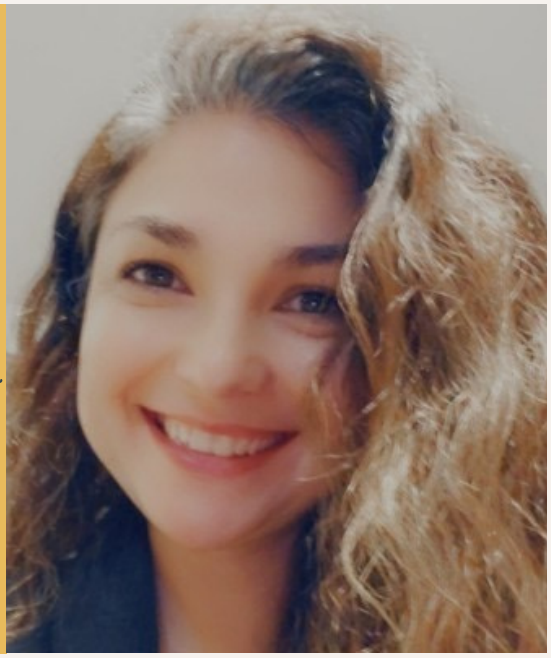
BIGGEST WIN

Due largely in part to Adam's expertise, our profits have seen a 40% increase and they've held.

a transformation story

Meet Michelle

From pain & struggle to purpose & smiles...



My life has been a struggle... including a weak marriage and a battle within myself. I have put more burden on my husband than I intended to. I am still working on how I handle things. I couldn't see the blessings due to the constant negative words, energy and people I surrounded myself with.

Since welcoming Adam into my life, he has and will always be there for me and I respect him more than I can ever put into words. My husband and I are able to talk about things more and fight about things less.

I am a work in-progress with a light at the end of the tunnel. I am not going to quit, because now... I have a purpose, I help myself, I can help my family, and I can help others. I cannot wait to do the same for others.

Meet Steve

Angry to Aligned

Steve

I was home from traveling for work and had some issues. I found myself angry, sharp with my words, easily frustrated & totally stressed to a point that I couldn't re-center myself.

Most of this was unfairly directed at my spouse. I was confronted with this behavior by Adam, as only a good mentor can.

I wasn't happy about hearing what he observed and the truth of my actions. I didn't know why my behavior had changed but at least agreed things had to improve.

I embarked on a routine and had an interesting side effect. I was able to do a lot of self-reflection and put positive energy and behaviors back into my daily life.

I rediscovered my core values and was able to be more centered. I calmed the anger and helped my mind to slow and focus on my priorities instead of distractions… what Adam calls staying "mission-minded".

IN HIS WORDS:

The key is that I had someone I trusted and valued to hold me accountable for the man I am and have the potential to be.
