YOUR ADVENTURE STARTS HERE

A SWISS ALP PHOTO EXPERIENCE FOR

Joyful Adventurers

Picture this...

YOU'VE BOOKED THE FLIGHTS, THE AIRBNB,
THE TRAIN TICKETS AND THE RESTAURANTS.
YOU'VE PLANNED THE PLACES YOU WANT
TO SEE, THE MOUNTAINS YOU WANT TO VISIT AND ALL THE LITTLE DETAILS THAT MAKE THE TRIP HAPPEN.

NOW IT'S TIME TO BOOK THE MEMORIES.

Why?

Because once the suitcases are unpacked and the holiday is over, the photos are the part that comes home with you. The laughs. The wind in your hair. The kids being completely themselves. The ridiculous little moments you forgot were even happening.

That's the good stuff.

AND THAT'S WHAT I'M HERE TO CAPTURE

YOUR PHOTOGRAPHER. A LITTLE CHEEKY. HIGHLY ORGANISED.

Hi! I'm Amanda

I've called Switzerland home since 2011, and over the years I've gathered a ridiculous amount of local knowledge, favourite photo spots and insider tips.

I'll guide you to breathtaking backdrops, help you work out the practical bits, and make the whole experience feel far easier than you ever imagined.

YOU BRING YOUR PEOPLE.
I'LL BRING THE CAMERA, THE LOCAL KNOW-HOW AND A PLAN

MORE THAN A PHOTOSHOOT

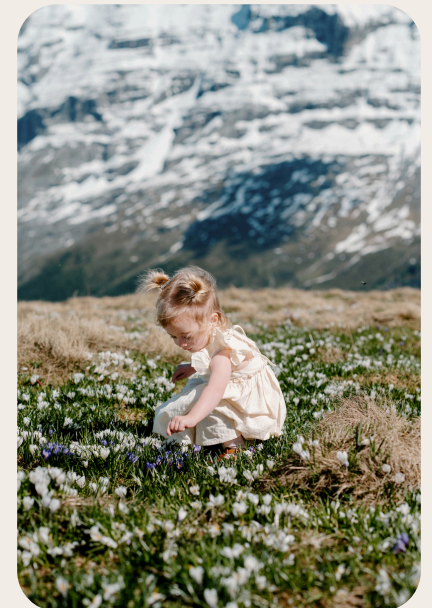

I HANDLE THE MOVING PARTS SO YOU CAN ACTUALLY ENJOY BEING HERE

THEN YOU GET TO TURN UP, LAUGH WITH YOUR PEOPLE,
SOAK IN SWITZERLAND AND LET ME CAPTURE WHAT YOUR ADVENTURES FELT LIKE.

THIS ISN'T ABOUT SQUEEZING A FEW PHOTOGRAPHS
INTO YOUR HOLIDAY SCHEDULE AND RACING OFF AGAIN.

I help you choose the right mountain experience for the season, guide you through what to wear and what to expect, and take care of the practical stuff like mountain access, weather, transport and timing.

THREE SEASONS. THREE VERY DIFFERENT WAYS TO EXPERIENCE THE ALPS

WINTER

December to February

Snow-covered landscapes and that brilliant Swiss winter magic.

AUTUMN

October + November

Crisp air, changing colour and quieter mountains.

SUMMER

June to mid-September

Long evenings, late light and my most limited mountain experience.

THE SUMMER EVENING EXPERIENCE

ONLY FIVE SESSIONS ARE RELEASED EACH SUMMER

THIS ONE IS VERY, VERY SPECIAL

We take the last lift of the day up the mountain, then settle in for dinner at the mountain restaurant, or you can bring a picnic and make the evening completely your own.

And then comes the bit almost nobody gets.

By the time we head out to photograph, the lifts are closed, the day-trippers are gone, and the mountain has completely changed.

This is an end-of-day session. No 5am alarms for sunrise. No hiking. No dragging everyone out of bed before breakfast.

I've spent years figuring out how to make this exact evening work: the timing, the transport, the dinner, the return journey, and all the little moving parts that mean we can stay up there when everyone else has already gone home.

Just your favourite people, late-evening light, and a version of the Alps that almost nobody gets to experience.

THAT'S WHAT MAKES THIS ONE SO
RIDICULOUSLY SPECIAL

LIMITED DOESN'T MEAN INFLEXIBLE

EACH SUMMER BOOKING GETS A THREE DAY WINDOW

IF YOU'RE TRAVELLING FROM ABROAD, I DON'T EXPECT YOU TO GAMBLE YOUR WHOLE SESSION ON ONE SINGLE EVENING.

For every summer booking I keep three days available in my calendar. That gives us room to work with changing mountain weather and choose the evening that gives us the very best possible outcome.

After the session, I arrange your transport back to your accommodation in Grindelwald, Lauterbrunnen* or Interlaken*.

Five bookings means I have the space to do this properly. I can watch the weather, stay flexible and give every family the attention this experience deserves.

*Additional taxi costs may apply for Lauterbrunnen and Interlaken.

AND YOUR MEMORIES ACTUALLY MAKE IT OFF THE SCREEN

THE BIT WHERE I EXPLAIN MYSELF

ONE OF A FEW. NEVER ONE OF MANY.
I'VE DELIBERATELY MADE MY CALENDAR SMALLER.

For you, that means more flexibility, more attention, more time spent on your photographs, and a photographer who actually knows who you are before you turn up.

You're not wedged between a pile of other sessions while I sprint through Switzerland with my hair on fire.

I know, because I tried that.

Post-pandemic summers got completely bonkers. Twenty-plus mountain sessions in short succession, packed trains, ridiculous heat, late-night editing, barely coming up for air, and far too much time sitting next to strangers on trains with their bare feet out while aggressively eating peaches like they'd been personally deployed to test my sanity. (Mouth noises.... I just can't.)

And somewhere in all that chaos, I realised I missed the way this felt when my business was smaller. I missed having space for people.

So I brought that back.

Fewer sessions means I can care more, stay flexible when plans change, obsess like crazy over your gallery, and actually enjoy creating this with you.

YOU'RE NOT ONE OF MANY. AND I
NEVER WANT YOU TO FEEL LIKE YOU ARE.

APPARENTLY I ALSO DO....

Train advice. Restaurant recommendations. Mountain logistics. Outfit help. Weather watching. Itinerary sanity checks.

I've even been known to retrieve a client's forgotten bag from a lost-property bin at a Swiss train station on the other side of the country, then intercept them at their transfer point so they could carry on to Italy without missing a beat.

So yes, technically, you're booking a photographer.

THE REST IS JUST ME
BEING ME.

Oh! And when possible, my best side kick Roxy-Pops my adorable Jack Russell will be with us too. And when I tell you she's the real MVP... I mean it.

ALPINE WEATHER IS PART OF THE STORY

The Alps are spectacular because they are wild, changeable and never quite the same twice.

I keep a close eye on mountain conditions and will always guide you towards the best realistic plan for your session. Exact timing and, occasionally, location may need to move as conditions change.

The goal is never to force a session into weather that simply isn't giving us what we need. It is to give ourselves the best possible chance of creating something beautiful.

That's also why I build flexibility into the planning from the start. For summer sessions, I keep a three-day window around your booking, let transport and other suppliers know that a weather pivot may be needed, and make sure there are backup options ready to go.

I rarely have just one plan.

I usually have Plan B and Plan C sitting nicely in the background too.

A LITTLE LOVE FROM PAST ADVENTURERS

"Amanda was such an absolute pleasure to work with! From the very first email, to setting up shoot details, to the day of, she made the whole experience just delightful. I cannot wait till we move back to Europe so that we can work with her again! She now has a lifelong client :)"

SAMANTHA

You knew EXACTLY what this mama wanted. You just sensed it, and somehow made it all happen! We also had an instant connection because you have such an amazing way of connecting with people and making them feel comfortable. You went above and beyond anything I ever expected, and the photos ended up being my FAVORITE souvenir from our trip! They captured not just the memories, but all the little moments and emotions that made the trip so special. I'll cherish these photos forever!

DEBBIE

REASONS NOT TO BOOK ME

A LITTLE HONESTY BEFORE WE START FROLICKING

If you need your photographer to fix how you feel about yourself in photos...

Wrong girl.

I'm here for joyful, ridiculous, real family moments. Sometimes that doesn't look "perfect."

My idea of perfect is joyful laughter and poetic chaos, not stiff, boring poses. I'll get you a couple of everyone-looking-at-the-camera shots, so your grandparents can chill, but we're absolutely going to frolic. You'll get your steps in. Just not by hiking. Thats for sure!

Cow poop, wind, flies, cows themselves, grubby kids, altitude, or dogs a problem?

That's Switzerland, Babe.

If this feels like too much of a financial stretch? Please keep the money. Enjoy your trip.

I'm not doing this because I need create another pretty mountain photo for myself. I already have the portfolio of my dreams and photos of families footloose and fancy-free in The Alps by the 1000's! My cup is already full.

I do this because I still love creating something this special for people...

...AND I THINK YOU'RE NEXT

RIGHT THEN, LET'S GO MAKE SOMETHING BRILLIANT

THE GOOD BIT STARTS NOW

Send me your travel dates and tell me a little about who is coming along.

I'll guide you through the seasonal options and the mountain experience that makes the most sense for your family.

A 30% non-refundable retainer secures your booking, with the remaining balance due after your session according to your booking terms.

Then we plan the fun part.

BECAUSE CHOOSING TO REMEMBER WHAT YOUR ADVENTURES FELT LIKE?

THAT IS ALWAYS WORTH IT.
