Liz's Story

We all have a story. A narrative that explains where we've come from and what we've come through. In so many ways, our stories as believers, are the same. We were one way. We meet Jesus. And we are completely made new. Liz's story is like that. Liz was adopted as an infant, raised Roman Catholic, and experienced a crisis of faith in her mid-twenties after losing a dear friend to cancer. After expressing her sadness, and anger (at God), to a mentor, she was advised to begin again, with the truth that God is love.

At the time, Liz could not have told you that those words are from Scripture, found repeatedly in 1 John. Over time, Liz's faith in Christ wasn't renewed, it was made new. She chose to be baptized, as an adult, and nothing has been the same since. Not to say life has been easy. In fact, life has in many ways, been more difficult since submitting her life to Christ. It is not easy to live in the world, but not be of it. But God, in His graciousness, has seen her through every valley, just as much as He's met her on every mountaintop.

Liz will tell you she's always believed in God. And she's been walking with Jesus for more than a decade. But she hasn't always known God's Word for herself. Living most of her life unBibled, Liz didn't understand the power, and importance of the Scriptures, until she began a daily, diligent, and disciplined study of the Bible. Eventually this led her to pursue a theological education, attending seminary at Biola University's Talbot School of Theology, in order to create content for other Christian women. So they don't have to lived unBibled either.

Podcast

Liz is the host and creator of the unBIBLED podcast. The podcast launched in September of 2024 and is designed to help other unBIBLED Christian women become familiar with God's Word and encourage them to become daily, diligent, disciplined students of the Bible.

Liz spent most of her life as an unbibled Christian. She believed in God. Followed Jesus. But didn't know the Bible for herself. It wasn't until Liz decided to become a daily, diligent, disciplined student of the Word that her entire life changed, for the better.

God's Word is truly for everyone. You don't have to go to seminary to understand it. In fact, Liz went to seminary, so you, don't have to.

INTERVIEW REQUEST FORM

Here are a few questions you might like to incorporate into an interview with Liz...

1. Why did you choose to attend seminary?
2. What is apologetics? Is it “apologizing” for being a Christian?
3. What are some of the most challenging apologetics issues today?
4. What’s the number one issue facing the Church right now?
5. What’s the most important thing for Christians to know?

Speaking Engagements

Liz is available for a variety of speaking engagements, including online, and in-person events such as conferences, workshops, and retreats. Below you'll find a list of Liz's favorite speaking topics, or you and your team can work directly with Liz, to develop a specialized presentation for your specific engagement. Liz reserves the right to refuse to alter her presentations should she be requested to go outside the bounds of orthodox trinitarian Christianity. If that's the case, she's probably not the right fit for your audience.

MEDIA KIT / fees & travel

Fees

Liz engages in a limited number of speaking events each year and will consider in-person, as well as Zoom call presentations for women's events such as conferences, retreats, and worships.

In-person, paid events (conferences, retreats, or workshops) begin at $1500 per engagement for a 45 to 60-minute keynote presentation.

Online presentations begin at $300 for a 60-minute presentation including Q&A.

Depending on the location, time, and date of your event fees are negotiable. Please contact Liz to discuss your particular event.

Travel

Depending on the location of your event Liz may ask for her travel expenses to be covered via reimbursement after your event. She prefers to book her own travel arrangements and will work with you prior to the event to ensure expenses are kept within a pre-determined budget.

For engagements requiring air travel, Liz flies out of Medford, Oregon (MFR).

Liz's Beliefs

I find it helpful to be able to read a writer or speaker's Statement of Faith and/or Beliefs, which is why I have linked mine here for you below. I am a non-denominational, complementarian, pre-Millennial, Protestant Christian, and attend a non-denominational local fellowship.

There may be many points we agree on. There may be some points we don't, and that's okay. If we can find agreement in the major points, we can find grace for one another in the minor ones. If we disagree, on major points of biblical Christian theology, please remember that disagreement doesn't equal hatred. The words I share, I share in love. My faith and my beliefs are deeply held. They are an intrinsic part of who I am: a woman, created by the True and Living God; an image bearer of Christ. If you don't like me because of my beliefs, that's okay too.

If your goal is to try to change my mind, I love a good conversation, even a debate - but I'm not a fan of confrontation. I have changed my mind on plenty of things, plenty of times over the course of my life. And I am blessed to continually be learning new things through careful, intentional study of God's Word. What I will not do is agree to change God's Holy Word, to suit the culture, feelings or desires of the age.

Truth is truth. It is not relative. It does not change over time. The Bible is as true, and foundational today, as it was in days past, as it will be in days to come.

God does not change. His Word does not change.

And I am so grateful for that.
