Quiet geometry, articulated through craft

The Strata Nightstand is an exploration of balance, proportion, and subtle architectural tension. Defined by clarity of line and restraint of gesture, the piece is composed entirely of wood, finished in two contrasting tones that emphasize its layered construction.

The side panels are carefully notched, allowing the top to appear as though it floats between them. This recessed connection creates a sense of lightness and precision, transforming a solid wood form into a composed architectural gesture rather than a monolithic volume.

Three drawers span between the side elements, each finished in a contrasting stain and set within the same notched framework. Suspended visually between the sides, the drawers appear to bridge the structure—hovering rather than resting—adding depth and rhythm to the composition while reinforcing the nightstand's sense of quiet movement.

At once grounded and refined, the Strata Nightstand supports daily rituals with ease and intention. It is a piece that rewards close attention, where craftsmanship and proportion quietly reveal themselves over time. As part of the Strata Collection, it embodies PARISII philosophy: refined simplicity shaped through thoughtful detail and enduring form.
