The Curves Occasional Chair is designed as an invitation to pause. Lounge-like and deeply comfortable, the chair embraces the body with a generous seat, soft upholstery, and a relaxed posture that encourages rest rather than formality.

The softly curved upholstered seat is paired with a deep, cushioned profile and a large, inviting pillow that enhances comfort without visual heaviness. The back is gently angled and fully upholstered, offering support while maintaining an easy, reclined feel. Every line is softened, allowing the chair to read as calm, approachable, and quietly expressive.

A lightly retro sensibility emerges in the profile. Curved supports extend subtly from the back of the chair, creating a distinctive silhouette that feels both familiar and fresh. These sculptural gestures give the piece character without ornament, reinforcing its sense of ease and individuality.

The chair is grounded by softly curved block wood legs, adding warmth and stability while echoing the fluid language of the seat above. Designed for living rooms, bedrooms, and intimate lounge settings, the Curves Occasional Chair invites a relaxed state—where comfort, proportion, and form work together to create a sense of quiet release.
