Reporting to the Department of Revenue

OMG!con is legally obligated to report any parties who sell in a temporary space during our event. It is the responsibility of the party who is selling during our event to report their earnings and file appropriate documentation with the state. Here is the email we received at the end of the 2025 year:

"We recently got a new computer program, the process is a little bit different now. Everything will be the same until the letter. We have a new letter now & will be due by 20th day of the month following this event. There will no longer be any other letters sent out or courtesy calls. The system will automatically bill anyone that has not responded. We do have a new taxpayer portal where vendors can create an account & pre-register for events or can go to the website to file the sales tax report themselves and pay online. The website for that is Mytaxes.ky.gov

I have attached a copy of the new vendor letter for you to see what will be mailed along with the postcard shown below. I hope this makes the process a lot smoother. They don't have to do it online, it is just another option, they can still fill out the form the same as before and mail payment in to the address on the letter.

Am I a Vendor or an Artist?

The Vendors Room is intended for licensed/official merchandise, or original merchandise that is manufactured to a large scale. If over 50% of the merchandise being sold falls under this, please apply to be a Vendor.
These are some example items that would fall under the Vendor Room:

- Manga/Anime
- Video Games
- Figures
- Manufactured Plush
- Rave Items
- Food/Drink
- Pop Culture Items

If you are selling a product that would normally fall under the Artist Alley on behalf of a creator (AKA by proxy), you would fall under the Vendor Room.

Can I sell some of my old, personal belongings in the Exhibitor's Hall?

At this point in time, OMG!con does not allow yard sale style booths where attendees can only sell previously owned personal items. If you are an Exhibitor selling used items, these must be clearly indicated in some way to any customer.

What are OMG!bucks?

OMG!bucks is an in-convention prize system for attendees. Attendees can receive OMG!bucks tokens throughout the weekend that may be used in the Exhibitors Hall at participating Exhibitor booths as cash. At the end of the Exhibitor Hall hours on Sunday, Exhibitors can then take the tokens to the Exhibitor Hall Coordinator(s) at the SWAG booth to exchange for actual money.

OMG!bucks MUST be brought to the Exhibitor Hall Coordinator(s) and redeemed by 6 P.M. on Sunday. Any tokens brought forth after this time will be considered an Exhibitor loss and will not be reimbursed. It is the responsibility of the Exhibitor to redeem their OMG!bucks for cash on time.

Exhibitors do have the option of opting out of OMG!bucks, however we want to make it clear that these Bucks will be redeemed for actual cash from OMG!con so Exhibitors will not be taking any loss themselves.

More information on OMG!bucks can be found on the OMG!con website.

Cancellation and Refund Policy

Any cancellation made 90 days or less before the Event will not receive a refund of any kind. Cancellations made more than 90 days in advance will receive a 50% refund. Any refunds will be issued 30 days after the Event has concluded. These policies are non-negotiable.

No-Shows

If an artist fails to check in for their table by noon on Saturday, they will be considered a No-Show. Lost tables cannot be reclaimed, and neither credit nor refund will be given for No-Show tables. No Show tables will then be offered at the convention for a discounted price on a first come, first serve basis.

18+ Materials

18+ Materials are allowed to be sold at OMG!con.
It is the Exhibitor's responsibility to card all purchasers and selling to anyone under the age of 18 is against OMG!con rules.

Disregarding this policy will result in immediate revoking of all badges and a forfeit of all selling spaces. All 18+ Materials should be kept out of the direct view of attendees/anyone under the age of 18. Please reach out to us if you would like to purchase extra drapery from the convention center.
"Ahegao" is strictly prohibited to sell or wear at the convention.

VENDORS: Please keep 18+ Materials (DVD's, Doujin, Manga, etc) closed, behind a counter, or otherwise in a monitorable area.
ARTISTS: Please card for 18+ themed commissions and keep 18+ materials in a binder or otherwise out of the direct view of possibly underage attendees.
If any EXHIBITOR is unsure if a piece violates any of these rules, please feel free to reach out.

Upon checking in at SWAG BOOTH, please let us know that you have purchased or need to purchase wifi. Once we have verified payment, we will grant you access to the wifi. Please be aware that pets and emotional support animals are not allowed, but service animals are so long as they are following the convention center policies and local ordinances. Please refer to the ADA guidelines regarding service animals for clarification on rules regarding service animals: https://www.ada.gov/resources/service-animals-faqs/.

No running, screaming, yelling, excessive noise or music, rough housing, sparring, fighting, or use of excessive obscene language will be tolerated. This applies for attendees as well as the Exhibitors.

No equipment or supplies that acts as an open heat source, this includes rice cookers (there was an incident), irons, lighters, and candles.

Please no raffles. The local ordinances consider this gambling, and we aim to comply with all local laws.

Once Exhibitor Hall hours are over, the Artist has a pack up time of up to 1 hour after closing. Once again, we are a locked alley when it is not open.

No table sniping please! Anyone using any unclaimed space without the permission of the Exhibitor Coordinator will immediately be removed. This includes setting up shop, displaying advertisements (fliers, signs, pamphlets), and loitering anywhere within the Artist Alley. If you wish to use a table, please speak with the Exhibitor Coordinator and we will work to see if there is one available.

All displays must be secured and stable.

Standard tables may not display outside of their designated space. If you are a table with a dividing curtain behind you, please do not hang anything from these curtains.

No tape, staples, glue, any adhesives, gum, boogers, bodily fluids, or tacks on the walls, columns, floor, curtains, or ceiling. The use of any display which could cause harm to the venue space is prohibited.

Exhibitors are to be respectful of the other Exhibitors in the Exhibitor's Hall. Attempts to snipe sales, disrupt business, or bad mouth fellow Exhibitors will not be tolerated.

Non-Artists or "employees" may not sell other Artist's artwork on their behalf or absence (aka proxy selling), the Artist selling artwork at a table/premium booth MUST be present at the convention. If you are an individual selling works for an artist not at the Convention, please look into purchasing a Vendor space in the Vendor room. For the purpose of OMG!con, if you did not create what you are selling and the artist is not present, you are considered a Vendor.

A table MUST submit a portfolio when applying to OMG!con. This can be a personal website, a Tumblr account, a DeviantArt account, etc. If you are using an Etsy account, please make sure your store is not on hiatus, as we cannot view the items when the store is taking a break.
After you have been approved, you will receive an email regarding payment options. All payments must be submitted within 2 weeks of approval. If the payment is not received, or if you have not been granted an extension, you will be at risk of losing your spot in the Alley.
The Exhibitor Coordinator understands that special circumstances do arise. We will do our best to accommodate.

This is a 50/50 fan art to original art convention. At least 50% of your works/display must be original art. There are no exceptions to this rule. If you have questions about any particular pieces, please feel free to contact the Artist Alley head.

OMG!con has the right to refuse or deny any artist/studio a table for any reason they see fit. If the artist/studio is found to have lied about any information that was given during the submission process or at the convention itself, or is found to have violated the general convention rules, OMG!con has the right to deny the artist/studio their table and the artist/studio will be banned from OMG!con's Artist Alley for as long as the convention sees fit.

OMGcon has the right to revoke attendance privileges for any individual committing fraud against the convention, or disregarding general convention rules/contracts.

Structures: Any structure (wire racks, crates, display boards, etc.) brought to display artwork of any kind must be of sound construction and may not extend more than 5 feet above the table. If any structure falls down, appears unstable, or extends more than 5 feet above the table, the artist to whom it belongs will be asked to fix or remove said structure by the Artist Alley staff. In addition, all displays must reside within the confines of your area. The corners of each table are considered to be an emergency exit/access for artists; as such you may not use the corners or the space between tables for your display. Displays behind your table may not impede upon other artists areas nor disrupt traffic flow in case of emergency. If you have large displays, consider purchasing our premium tables.

Restricted Items and Guidelines for Artist Alley

The following is a comprehensive list of genres, items and themes we will not not allow in OMGcon's Artist Alley. This list contains a number of works and franchises that either:

- Too close to copyright infringement.
- Are works the original creator specifically stated not to be replicated or reproduced in any form.
- Are not something the seller has personally created

Please be aware that this list will change as the ban on certain items may be lifted, or new ones introduced in the future.

There is zero tolerance for any of the listed following, and if it is being sold in the Artist Alley, the artist selling will be asked to remove said items. If the artist refuses to comply, the artist and any table mates will be ejected from the Artists Alley without a refund or compensation.
Also, if anyone has any knowledge of other copyrighted items that they've heard that the creators would like to not be sold, please let the Artist Alley know via email with a source link provided if possible. If you have any questions as to if a work will violate this policy, do not hesitate to email the Exhibitor Coordinators with an attached photo of the items in question.

Banned Items
The following list will not be in any way allowed in the OMGcon Artist Alley; no exceptions. Some of the following items may however in fact be better suited for the Vendor's Room, and will be noted as such. Once again, any questions may be directed to OMGcon Artist Alley staff.

1. No food may be sold in the Artists Alley.
2. Glowsticks, flashlights, and other electronic rave blinking items. These items, may be sold in the Vendor Room instead.
3. No copies of existing HATS or PLUSHIES. This means taking an existing hat or plush item and replicating it for sale. This is bootlegging. IE, an official hat for Teemo (League of Legends) already exists, therefore will not be allowed to be sold.
5. Buttons depicting art that the Artist themselves did not create. This means no creating buttons from recycled Manga pages, Video game strategy guides, etc.
6. Yard Sale style tables will not be allowed. OMGcon Artist Alley is not a yard sale. No merchandise, official or unofficial will be allowed to be sold in the Artist Alley. These items were not created by the artist and therefore will not be allowed to be sold at ANY table, no exceptions. This includes:

*Plush
*Figures
*Cosplay Items
*Wigs
*Wall Scrolls
*Art purchased at previous Artist Alleys or Vendor Room that you did not create

Banned Copyrighted Items
The following franchises will not be allowed to due to requests made by the original creators of said works.

- Homestuck/MS Paint Adventures or any works copyrighted by Andrew Hussie fanart OR craft may not be sold. This includes troll horns, fan art, and cosplay items/accessories. This is by the request of the creator.
- Welcome to Nightvale fanart OR crafts may not be sold. This is by request of the creator.
- Among Us fan art or crafts may not be sold. This is by request of the creator.
- Craft Items pertaining to Square Enex or its subsidiaries may not be sold. This is because licensed merchandise for these things (such as Keyblades, Cloud swords, etc) exist and these items fall under bootleg. Fan Art is okay.
- VG Cats crafts or fan art may not be sold. This is by request of the creator.
- Crafted items pertaining to Gravity Interactive, Warp Portal and their subsidiaries may not be sold. This is by the request of the creator.

- Gaia Online craft or fan art will not be allowed. This is by request of the original creator.

Please be aware of Funimation's stance on fan art:
http://www.animenewsnetwork.com/news/2015-07-01/funimation-issues-statement-on-fan-art-and-trademark-rights/.89972
This specifies that Funimation is cracking down on Trademarks. IE, Logos, Symbols, ETC. It is considered the responsibility of the artist to know if their work infringes on this.

Artist Alley is meant to showcase artist talent, hard work, and a love for creating things. This being said, we here at OMGcon Artist's Alley wish to encourage people to break out of the fan-art box and showcase their original talent. As such, the amount of art displayed by an Artist must not exceed 50% Fan Art. Details are explained below.

Also, OMGcon is considered a Family Friendly convention, and therefore have rules and stipulations in regards to Hentai, Pornographic, or 18+ Art. Details are explained below. All Artists will be required to prominently display their OMG passes when occupying their space. The Artist Alley is a "Closed Alley" which means it will be locked down after operating hours. With that in mind, Artists may leave displays and merchandise intact but please remove all valuables (cellphones, laptops, money, etc.) OMGcon and the venue are not responsible for anything lost or stolen from the artist's space.

Fan-Art:

In order to promote original works, any Artist or Studio's table must have at least 50% of the displayed works be original art, and may not have more than 50% of displayed works be Fan-Art.
etc.)

- The 50/50 rule applies to ALL mediums (metal work, chain mail, knitted works, hats)
- If a piece of art appears to be very similar to a licensed, copyrighted, etc. piece of art, the artist may be asked to remove it from display and sale at the discretion of the Convention Board/Exhibitor Coordinators. The Exhibitor Coordinators and Board decision is final.
- If an artist brings more fan art to the convention than they displayed in their portfolio (or more than 50%), they will be asked to remove a proportion of their work to accommodate the 50/50 rule.

Artists are advised to sell Fan Art at their own risk. OMGcon will not be held responsible and/or liable should an Artist be asked to remove Fan Art from their line up by a licensed company (Funimation, Cartoon Network, Bandai, Disney, etc) and/or owner of original artwork in question (Homestuck, Nightvale, etc).

The following is NOT, by OMGcon Artist Alley standards Fan-Art, and will not count towards the 50/50 rule, and will also not be permitted to be sold as it violates Copyright laws:

- Fan art that is identical to a piece that is by the original artist. This is a direct violation of Copyright Infringement laws. Clothing and/or accessories that are massively produced in a production environment, weapons (either real or for play), jewelry/keychains made from copyrighted charms, and reproductions of cosplay accessories that are or have been in production.
- AI generated art, we do not condone or accept any form of AI-generated art

18+ Art:
OMGcon is a family friendly convention, so we have certain rules and regulations in regards to Adult Materials sold in the Artists Alley. If you have any concern if your art falls into this category, please ask!

> Any images depicting sexual acts, nudity, gore, extreme violence, or anything related to Adult Materials will not be openly displayed at the Artists Alley table. These images may be kept in a separate binder or portfolio, or may be censored, not openly left upon the table. The acceptability of displays featuring adult material is at the sole discretion of the convention and Artist Alley staff. We understand that some images may be considered "racy" while not being outright sexual. If you have any questions about works which may fall into this category, please contact OMGcon Artist Alley via E-mail with an attached file of the image(s) in question.Any materials which are sexually explicit, extremely graphically violent, or otherwise unsuitable for children must be out of sight and not on display.
> These materials may not be shown or sold to any individuals under the age of 18. It is the Artists sole responsibility to card persons in this regard, and OMGcon asks that only official state identification be accepted.

Any Artist selling adult materials to persons under the age of 18 are subject to having their badge revoked without refund or compensation. There will be no exceptions to this.
Artists may post signs stating that they have adult materials for sale and/or commission.
18+ Art may not count toward the 50/50 ratio as it is not able to be openly displayed.

Commissions:
Commission sales are welcomed in OMGcon's Artist Alley, and may include a wide range of services via the artists, provided that the Commission does not violate the Ban List, Adult Material age restrictions, and falls under either Original or Fan Art. Commissions of Original Characters are at the discretion of the OC Creator.

Commissions taken for delivery at the convention, regardless if the commission was taken pre convention for delivery or at the convention for delivery are between the artist and commissioner, and OMGcon is not a party in these dealings. As such, OMGcon and any staff or volunteer cannot assist you in locating either the commissioner or the artist who was commissioned. Please make sure you get contact information for one another as part of your dealings.

Any Artist accepting commissions requiring a live model during Exhibitor hours must conduct these commissions in a manner which does not disrupt attendees, staff operations or fellow Artists. Live models should be placed so as to not interfere with the flow of traffic or the space and operations of other artists.

Any Exhibitors found to be in violation of the outlined rules will be given one warning. If another violation occurs, the artist will then be required to close their table and immediately leave the Exhibitor’s Hall. If the Exhibitor returns and attempts to display, sell, harass and/or slander OMGcon, OMGcon's attendees, or OMGcon's staff, they will be removed from the convention grounds altogether. Depending on the severity of the infraction, other appropriate actions may apply, including but not limited to banning from future alley participation, banning from future OMGcon events, and legal action. No refund will be provided.

Now that you have read the rules, you are ready to submit an application.

Good luck!
